Manager's Comment

During the month of July we were waiting for the meeting of the central banks.

Both the ECB and the Fed were less accommodating than expected.

The ECB postponed the cut from -0.40 to -0.50 September.

The Fed cut by 0.25, largely discounted by the market, but added that this was not the beginning of a series of cuts.

These decisions are dictated by the fact that the markets are at their highest level and probably the central banks want to stay more powerful for more difficult moments.

The strategy of the fund has been put in defense by passing the equity component from 94% to 58% and buying a 5% of hedged gold.

We are ready to repeat the same approach we used in May, when we returned full invested on critical support levels.

There will also be a stock reversal at the end of the earning season in mid-August.

The EURUSD exchange rate remains open until we see hedging opportunities.
